

Executive Development Program

Objectives

The program will sharpen the participants' strategic and entrepreneurial thinking and doing. Participants will explore various options for profitable growth and innovation at SCHOTT. With a focus on key success factors and the importance of networks, they will learn how to actively promote the internationalization of SCHOTT.

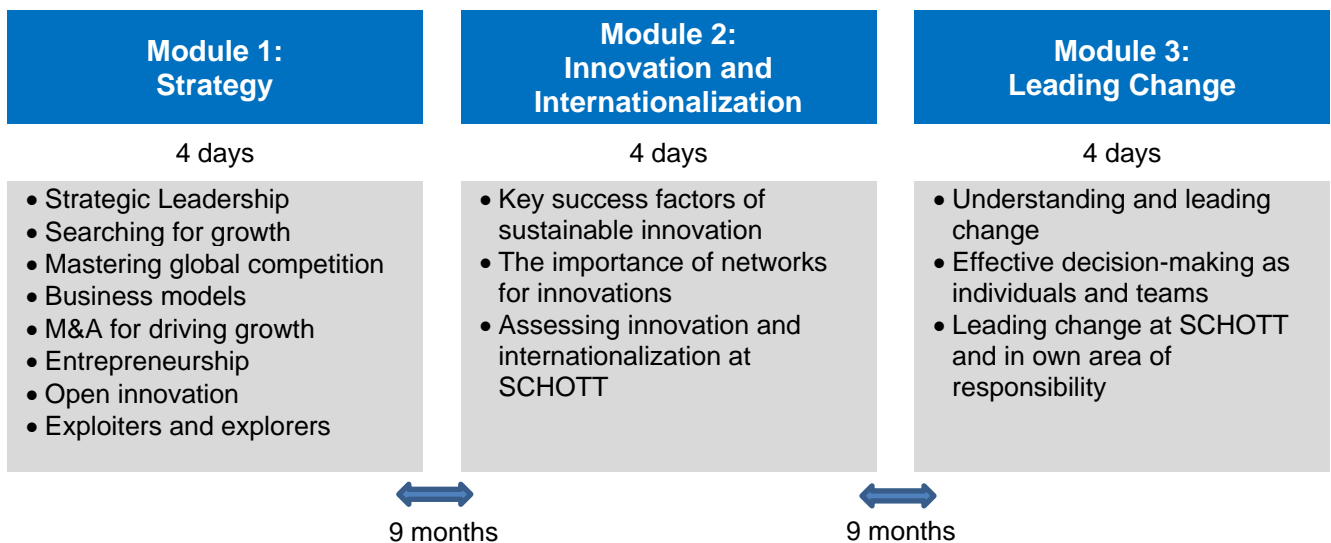

In addition, participants will expand their ability to effectively lead change and transformation at SCHOTT and in their own area of responsibility.

The Executive Development Program consists of three modules as described in the program structure below. The modules are delivered as classroom seminars in international locations.
